THE SITE TODAY

Existing conditions

The roughly 59,000-square-foot assemblage sits in an M1-1 light-manufacturing district and has seen no major investment in more than 85 years.

Single-story warehouses & retail

A pair of one-story warehouses and a retail building, home to a longtime appliance store

Surface parking lot

Underused paved parking fronting the boulevard

Held for generations

Owned by the applicant since the mid-20th century

What is changing

THE PROPOSAL

A new mixed-use building

The roughly 261,100-square-foot building would combine homes with shops and community space at street level.

Residential

~240,120 sq ft — 257 apartments

Commercial

~16,700 sq ft of ground-floor retail

Community facility

~4,760 sq ft, envisioned for child care

WHY IT MATTERS

Homes and community benefits

Permanent Affordability: MIH Option 1

64 of the 257 apartments would be income-restricted

Transit-oriented location

New housing on a wide boulevard directly served by nearby subway lines.

Space for the neighborhood

Ground-floor community facility envisioned for child-care serving local families.

Active street life

About 16,700 sq ft of retail keeps the boulevard frontage lively and walkable.

Where the proposal stands

The proposal is moving through the city's Uniform Land Use Review Procedure (ULURP), a public process with several review stages and opportunities to comment.
